CASE STUDY

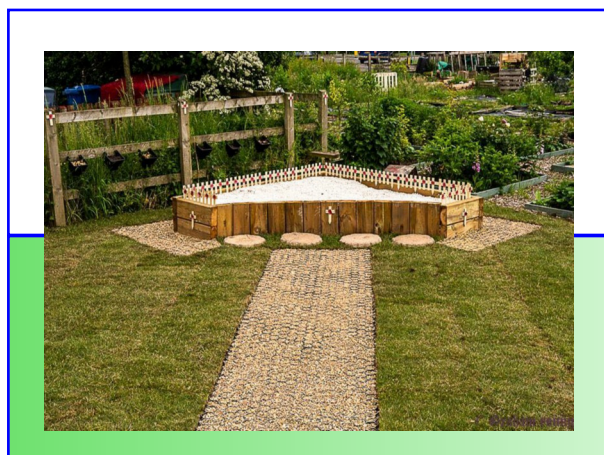

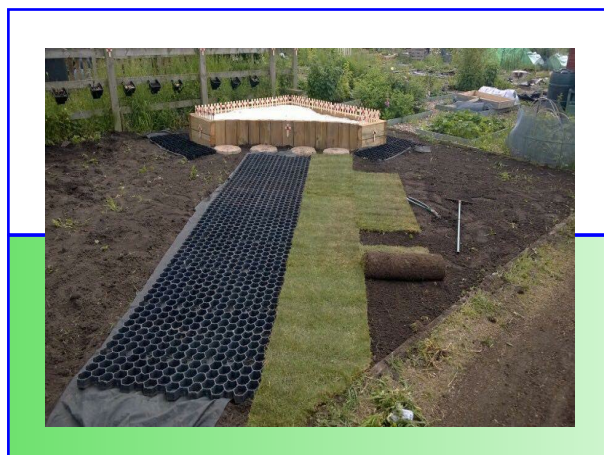

Shoulder to Soldier Veterans Charity - Community Allotment
February 2018

For this project, we gladly donated 10m² of our Hy-Pave EKG I Porous Cellular Paver to the armed forces charity, Shoulder to Soldier. We supplied this to the charity's communal allotment which enabled disabled veterans to participate in the garden more. In the past, the veterans were left frustrated that they couldn't have easy access to the allotment, as their restricted mobility and the lack of flat ground made it difficult to enjoy a trip to see their friends down at the allotment. This product was used to create a pathway towards their veterans memorial.

Linda Fisher, founder of the charity, praised the product for its flexibility and how easy to install it is - ' I was so pleased when Hy-Tex offered us this product, as it allows the veterans to have a much more pleasant and straightforward experience when they visit the allotment. The better access also means visitors can pay their respects at the memorial easier '

ITV regional news also paid a visit to the allotment to highlight the charity's great work in the community. The allotment went on to win The Cultivation Street Community Gardens Regional Award.
